9 WAYS TO KNOW YOUR HR PRACTICES ARE OBSOLETE

The Head of Human Resources reports to the CFO.

Your Employee Handbook is titled "Personnel & Policy Manual".

Your Employee Handbook is longer than the United States Tax Code.

HR spends more than 50% of their time on compliance and benefits management.

None of your executives have heard of the term, "Talent Management".

Age old response to why?
"That's the way we've always done it".

HR is considered a cost center and not an asset.

It's been over three years since executives have taken leadership training.

Employees feel no one is listening to them
